Folks,
Just to clarify an earlier statement _____
Patriot Act revision and found the following:

Libraries and 18 U.S.C. §
2709 (telephone toll and transactional records):
A library is not a wire or electronic communications service provider unless the library is providing the services defined in 18
U.S.C. § 2510(15)(electronic communication service).

2510 (15) defines electronic communication service as:

An "electronic communication service provides its users the ability to send or receive wire or electronic communications." S. Rep. No. 541, 99th Cong., 2d Sess. 14 (1986). Examples of electronic communication services would be telephone companies (such as Verizon) and electronic mail companies (such as America On Line). Id. Verizon serves as an electronic communication service when it facilitates the placement of telephone calls, and America On Line does, as well, when it transmits electronic mail from the sender to the recipient.

Thanks for the chart. I had not seen it before. Is it housed in one of our libraries?
