Some additional info/thoughts for everyone to consider.

1) [redacted] (this was recently identified and perhaps will be resolved with a cold boot or other techniques).

2) We will add the [redacted] per [redacted] instructions. I believe we can configure the [redacted] can wait until our capacity will truly [redacted] before requesting ERF's help in addressing the license issues [redacted] Thus, if some of the planned expansion never happens, we won't have paid [redacted] for [redacted] We do not anticipate the need for anything close to [redacted] anytime soon. Most likely, [redacted] should hold us for a while.

3) [redacted] The office move is in limbo (as far as I know). My guess is that 2008/2009 is probably the earliest the office will be relocating.

4) I am going to stay away from the full system upgrade at office move issue.

5) We were told over a year ago to utilize only [redacted]

6) Since you have other sites with greater need for [redacted]

Hope this helps. Questions/comments/concerns are welcome. Thanks.

[redacted] and all

[redacted] is being shipped this week to meet your immediate needs. Your email also indicates a [redacted] If so let me know and we can get a replacement for you.

It is important to note that even though this will give the system the physical capability for more than [redacted] If you require more, we can do that but we will have to arrange additional licensing and it could impact performance - so it is generally only good as a short term solution.

We are looking into ways to accelerate your system upgrade to a [redacted] system but this has raised some issues.
Do you have the space? [redacted] The environment??? It doesn't sound as though [redacted] has a near term need for that much line capacity.

Is [redacted] still scheduled to move in 07?

If line capacity will allow, I think we would be better off to delay the full system upgrade until the move. Of more immediate concern, I think is the number of workstations. I show you with [redacted] If it looks like that is going to be an issue before the move we can deal with that.

Re - an additional [redacted] Your projected additions - particularly the [redacted] could change that and we will continue to monitor the situation. But presently, priority for additional [redacted] must be given to sites/systems with identified [redacted]

Let me know - we'll work out the best solution to meet all of the field office needs.

Thanx

The are for proper operations associated with an existing case. The can answer the phone like a but with the call direction is always incoming. of ERF asked us to use to overcome this Red Wolf "inconsistency."

Now that Red Wolf workstations/printers are being placed in various/remote locations in the building, we need the to reduce the number if long, individual, cables we have to run to them. So, the two of the are replacements for two we have borrowed from the CART program, the third we need for installation of two other workstations, and the fourth will be a spare. Thanks.

Olga,

[redacted] is working the [redacted] CT cases that had white noise. One in [redacted]

We are looking at the problem in two ways. The first is to limit the amount of useless, non-voice audio that is recorded. The second is to better sort through data that is already recorded.

To accomplish the first, we are installing [redacted] to improve the quality of the intercepted data and by [redacted] In some cases, it may be necessary to improve [redacted] Red Wolf for storage. This Thurs and Fri a team is going to [redacted] to work on the [redacted] They will work with the tech personnel in the office to evaluate the situation and work to solve it. They will take equipment they anticipate might be needed. We are trying to set the same thing up for [redacted] the following week.

To help weed through data that is already recorded, we are looking at using some new software in the [redacted] and allow the LS's to go to that spot. Data has been downloaded from the [redacted] Red Wolf to determine if this approach will work. If it does, we will look at applying it to some of the other data.

(S)

A test bed to better evaluate solutions to white noise problems should be complete at OTD this week.

(S)

In addition, equipment was installed last week on the [redacted] case at [redacted] We should have an evaluation of the results of this effort this week.

While in [redacted] the team also intends to see if improvements in the "white noise" can be made to the [redacted] case.

We purchased additional [redacted] equipment to have it available to move ahead on cases where white noise is identified as a problem.

If you need additional information before the meeting call me on my cell phone [redacted] or at my desk [redacted]

When you get back we need to work out the order to Right now the plan is to get windows workstations - I guess these will be workstations (with their windows) for testing - would prefer to test this 1st batch with a known//proven Windows install. At least that was the impression I got from the meeting ????

We also need to get a couple loaded with the FBI windows image- which will be the way it will be ultimately fielded - I have spoken with who has been in contact with (guardian of the Bureau licensing). She tells me that we will have to load the complete Bureau windows package, which includes Word, XL etc. I don't think that should be an issue but we may discover some driver issues --- That's test issue. Anyway - I would like to have load So we need to have at least one delivered here.

We probably should also give one with the Security settings configured so they can fight that battle now rather than later.

Lots of issues - things to talk about ....

We will need this workstation until at least mid-December. At this time, I see no reason to install any more than one workstation. There is only one Agent currently assigned to the RA, due to transfers and retirements. Usually, three agents are assigned there. However, there are TDY agents there helping with this case and at least two SSG teams at any given time.

We will need this workstation until at least mid-December. [redacted] At this time, I see no reason to install any more than one workstation. There is only one Agent currently assigned to the [redacted]RA, due to transfers and retirements. Usually, three agents are assigned there. However, there are TDY agents there helping with this case and at least two SSG teams at any given time.

The remote workstation sounds like the way to go. That way, on site support is available for everything, except a printer problem, etc.

The time frame depends on availability and shipping time. We will prioritize installation if we can get the necessary equipment here sooner rather than later. We're ready when ever you are. The Mike is running now, so we are not going to lose anything by taking our time and doing it right.

Thanks for all your help!

Wouldn't a remote workstation/printer make more sense if it is determined that this office needs something. This would answer and resolve many of the other issues associated with having a portable system located in an office that doesn't have on-site support.

Will this system be connected to [redacted]

Will the existing case targets being collected on the [redacted] Field Office be moved to this portable system?

How many workstations would be required ?

Who would provide technical support for this system? [redacted] Field Office????

Do we have any timeline ??? Start - Stop etc????

Portable systems are generally reserved for contingency type operations or special cases which require that access be extrememly limited.

Any additional info would be helpful.

Arrange for shipment of one workstation, monitor, UPS -

I don't believe they will need footpedals?????
