~~SENSITIVE BUT UNCLASSIFIED~~
~~NON-RECORD~~

[redacted] As discussed - I have NOT forwarded the response I was writing below. I did speak with [redacted] today, and he confessed he didn't consider the second floor. I've attached the floor plans for your use. If [redacted] really needs [redacted] workstations, they will need to bring the [redacted] they have, plus the one I was sending with the system - then we will need to add [redacted] workstations - and - we will be within [redacted] workstations of needing to replace their database server!

[redacted]

Thank you for the information [redacted] but now I have even more questions than before. The plans I received from [redacted] of ETMU (copy of the floor plans attached) showed a [redacted] with [redacted] workstations. That is where I believed the [redacted] Red Wolf workstations to be located. In your response you mentioned [redacted] workstations plus your supervisory station. The plans do show [redacted] workstations on the second floor. Is this the linguists' space? If so, how many TOTAL Red Wolf workstations are needed to provide all the [redacted] required for the [redacted] facility?

We here at TICTU normally deal with TOTAL site requirements and not with the individual elements within the office. [redacted] is the TTA for the facility, so I look to him to coordinate the facility requirements. Is this not the case in this instance?

And, the [redacted] office will need [redacted] Red Wolf workstations? When will these be required? Have the circuit access [redacted] been ordered, cabling, etc? Will a printer be required at [redacted] The Red Wolf workstations and printer (if required) should come to TICTU as an [redacted] request. The [redacted] access needs to be handled by those persons responsible for those programs.

Good morning [redacted] It was my understanding each of the [redacted] workstations would be able to access Red Wolf and as the [redacted] I would also have access from my desk. We currently have [redacted] linguists/monitors working daily. This does not account for the TDY linguists. On any given day [redacted] will have [redacted] linguists TDY. Although they do not utilize Red Wolf on a daily basis, they do require the capability without having to move from station to station. Upon relocating to the new building, additional linguists will be working. We currently do not have the space or the accessibility we need. The [redacted] will need Red Wolf for [redacted] workstations.

[redacted] - This is to confirm the voice message I left you this afternoon. I am preparing the installation order for your new Red Wolf system that is to go into the new building, and needed to know a few things:

I currently show that you have [redacted] workstations - these are to be moved to the new building, and there will be 1 new workstation set up as the [redacted] on the new system. Are you going to need any additional Red Wolf workstations?

How about the [redacted] office? I understood that these workstations were to be [redacted] [redacted] How many [redacted] will you need and when will you need them?

I also show that you have one printer on your current Red Wolf system. That printer should also be moved to your new space. Your new system will come with one (1) new printer. Will you need any additional Red Wolf printers at [redacted]

Thanks

I wanted to confirm our discussions regarding the issue below. There are no legal restrictions to having a separate contractor work on a solution that will incorporate [REDACTED] technology we have limited data rights to. Specifically when the solution uses existing software, does not involve reverse engineering, and [REDACTED] is aware of the use.

Further, transfer of [REDACTED] software to a separate hardware is permissible under our license as long as we remove all software from the previously installed station.

I hope this clarifies any questions you may have, if you have any additional questions, please feel free to contact me.

The Digital Collection Program provides the FBI with the means to collect evidence and intelligence through the acquisition, deployment, and support of communications interception techniques and systems which facilitate and support national security, domestic counterterrorism, and criminal investigative efforts.

The Digital Collection Program has evolved during its life cycle and has become more complex. Even so, digital collection systems are computer-based systems comprised primarily of commercial-off-the-shelf hardware and software with limited proprietary application software. Incorporated technological advances allow Case Agents to easily and effectively manage the recordings electronically, which dramatically increases the efficiency of trial preparations.

One of the actions out of our meeting with [redacted] yesterday was that we are to provide a system definition (keyed somewhat to the questions) and this definition is to be provided to the field (through TPDU). Please take a look and let me know ... I have to get this to them today and I'm scheduled to go to [redacted] for a CCB meeting at 10.

The RedWolf (DCS-5000) is the FBI's primary digital collection platform for FISA-authorized telephone, and microphone intercepts: [redacted]

The warranty for any government owned equipment (GOE) and/or [redacted] RedWolf XG product shall begin when the system or equipment is accepted by the FBI. Equipment is defined as material procured for the government that does not constitute a complete system. Equipment will be shipped either to a government site or shipped in place to remain at [redacted] as Government Owned Equipment (GOE). Acceptance shall occur when an authorized government representative signs the General Shipping Order (GSO). If no government representative signs for the equipment either shipped in place or to a government site, the COTR, upon verification of acceptance, shall sign a corresponding GSO.

Complete systems shall be accepted after 30 contiguous days error free operation period at their installed site. [redacted] may ship in place complete systems prior to delivering them for installation.

Note: Upon approval by the COTR of [redacted] acceptance test results prior to shipping in place, [redacted] is allowed to invoice for 85% of the system price prior to installation. Government acceptance shall occur after 30 contiguous days of error free operation or 90 days after SIP if no installation has been made.

Warranty for Repairs

Parts repaired under warranty shall retain the greater of the original system warranty or 90 days, whichever is longer. Parts repaired that are no longer under the original warranty will be warranted for 90 days.

Note: Invoices each T&M task order shall be submitted after completion of all work, and delivery to and acceptance by the government.

Warranty for Refurbishments

Warranty for refurbished systems shall be the same as for new systems for a period of 90 days after installation.

Nope -

I received an e-mail message from [redacted] on Monday that the MIPR will take longer than they expected. They held a meeting sometime this week to discuss. Haven't heard back from them as of yet.

So far, the estimates I've provided do not include installation, shipping, travel and a lot of other items that need to be provided (JSI [redacted] expansion, etc). We are moving this weekend into a new building, but I'll try to get as close to a 'final' number as possible by late next week.

Thanks [redacted] I had hoped we could do it sooner. The [redacted] who has approved the funding is leaving next Friday. I wanted to give him the final numbers while he was still in command. Perhaps over the next few days we can get a good estimate and that will suffice until we meet on the 3rd to nail down the exact amount.

Does the price include installation and all associated costs, including travel expenses? If not, let's work that estimate into the total price as well. I will try to get answers to you ASAP on things that effect the price. The final admin question as far as infrastructure and logistics of actually getting the equipment moved in can be discussed at the VTC. I have tried to answer some of your questions. I will confirm the exact numbers with you later today.

AGENDA

1. System configuration/Specifications - [redacted] Workstations, 2 printers, [redacted]

[redacted] We will ensure the infrastructure is in place to handle this configuration. I don't foresee any major issues.

2. Required number of workstations = _____ (each ws w/UPS = 250 Watts) 15 included in initial estimate. I don't think it will be more than 15, but I will get you a hard number.
3. Reuse of [redacted] network? If this is to be replaced, we will need to provide a separate cost estimate. [redacted] comments indicated that the [redacted] network needs expansion. If we need to provide an estimate for expanding the [redacted] network, how many additional [redacted] cards would be required? [redacted] can you answer this?
4. Required number of printers = _____ (2 included in initial estimate) Two should be fine, but I will get confirmation.

5. Delivery obstacles - can completed system be delivered [redacted] Stairs? I would expect stairs and suggest shipping [redacted]

6. Floor loading - this system will weigh approximately 7,500 pounds distributed over 21 square feet giving a loading of 360 pounds per square foot. Will the structure support this loading? We will ensure it can.

b2
b6
b7C
b7E

7. Special microphone requirements? I don't think so. [redacted]

8. Estimated time to complete MIPR plans? 3 days after I have the final #.

9. Maintenance costs are approximately 10% per year Is this the [redacted]

10. System lead-time is 120 days after receipt of funded order OK.

11. [redacted] If not required, may we recover hardware? [redacted] is necessary.

12. Future expansion plans? I don't foresee anything over [redacted] however, anything is possible. If it does happen, what does it take to license additional inputs?

Creation of user accounts within Redwolf has not changed. I hesitate to send instructions [Redacted] because I do not want to insult anyone. I'm pretty sure they already understand how to do this. It is in the Redwolf documentation if they need it.

The only other problem that I can see anyone running across would be [Redacted] related. If [Redacted] has [Redacted] and is the reason why I have recommended that we field it.

PS: We still have not had the meeting with [Redacted] I need to talk to you about log files that [Redacted] wanted us to send him.

Do we want to get together and discuss some of the recent shortcomings??? ie HQ???

FLSD/SMU is asking for any schedule you may have regarding Red Wolf installation activities, so they can try and ensure the facility is ready (primarily cooling) for the system. We would also need to know what the system configuration is so we could determine the heat load.

How are you? What will SMU do when we send the Red Wolf heat load specs and deployment schedule? Will you be able to take action so that the power and HVAC are taken care of in advance? I would think that the CMP Facilities phone call mentioned below several months in advance would then serve to confirm that SMU has taken care of any discrepancies. Do you agree? It would then be a joint responsibility between TICTU and ETMU to keep the heat loads and deployment schedule updated.

ALL,

In order to set the record straight, the additional equipment mentioned at the very beginning of this message was NOT ADDITIONAL RW equip! It was a one-for-one replacement to an existing defective component. We (TICTU DCS-5000/ETMU) have a process in place that includes the field office, ETMU (facilities [Redacted] Vendor), and TICTU DCS-5000. A phone survey is provided in advance to review the RW system and ALL pertinent information: i.e. power, BTUs, footprint, parts list, etc. This is necessary, in order to prepare the field office with the essential AC, power, space management, etc. Several communications follow up to ensure everything is in place, before actually performing the system installation.

This being said, glitches occur from time to time. We're working on improving these instances. If you continue to have concerns please let us know. We'd be happy to assist you.

Sincerely,
[Redacted]

I'm trying to get an updated schedule (with system configurations) from the Red Wolf Program Office. I'll forward it to you (along with the heat loads) once we get it. We have the tentative schedule for the [Redacted] system, and usually contact the FO/RA a few months out to ensure they have the required electrical outlets and HVAC capacity necessary for the new system.

As a side note [Redacted] is scheduled to get a new [Redacted] system in November, 2006. This new system (the equipment configuration changed in the last couple of months) now requires approximately [Redacted] to power the three UPSs.

[Redacted] We have a problem in that more equipment is being placed in this room [Redacted] than was originally planned for. If this is a known requirement, we need more notice to make sure corrective action is taken ahead of time.

We're running into this a lot. Please give us a list of all planned red wolf installations/ time frames and heat loads so we can get ahead of the curve?

I have sent a request to [Redacted] RA building management to turn on overtime utilities for [Redacted] [Redacted] for the upcoming Holiday weekend. Monday morning when I came in, the temperature was at 90 degrees and it was again this morning (Wed). We can not have the Red Wolf Equipment [Redacted]

[Redacted]

I have re-faxed the RWA (N3586628) for OT Utilities for that room as well as an additional (NEW) RWA (N3694727) to install an air conditioning unit for that area. Additional Red Wolf Equipment was delivered last week and is scheduled to be installed in that room in the near future.

This is a priority request. Please respond as soon as possible.

Thank you,

Nope - only the Site Number. There is a [redacted] that I gave to [redacted] and one to [redacted] before I left that lists the physical address of most of the divisions. If you could get hold of one of their [redacted] I could go thru it with you over the phone and tell you which location most systems are at. Some you might need to call, however.

Do you have a list of the sites Red Wolf is installed in with the building address listed? I need to know the building number / address for security documentation.

Right now, I have more questions than answers. Some of those questions are on the attached [redacted] diagram. Other questions would include is there space/power/HVAC available at the sites? Do all [redacted] need to have

[redacted]

The diagram attached shows an additional [redacted] - these may or may not be needed - but I showed them anyway. If nothing else, these will get everyone thinking about our requirements.
