Ladies and Gentlemen:

Re: Airworthiness Certification for Yamaha RMAX Type II

The Washington State Department of Transportation (WSDOT) has evaluated the Yamaha RMAX Type II using Washington State policy and guidelines and has determined that it is safe and airworthy to operate under the restrictions contained in the COA application.

The Yamaha RMAX Type II is certified to fly in Washington State under the following restrictions:

Uninhabited areas.

The Yamaha RMAX Type II is certified to fly in Washington State because:

The aircraft has successfully flown more than 100 flights in other countries.
